

People you enjoy spending time with but may not be close.

People that support you/help you out, you are not super close with.

People closest to you. Best friends close family (parents, cousins, any of that)