Resources for Siblings of People with Disabilities in Illinois

Siblings of people with disabilities experience various support needs throughout the lifespan. Better outcomes for siblings can lead to better outcomes for their brothers and sisters with disabilities, and all family members. It is important to start early and provide supports to young siblings. As they age, siblings may take on greater support roles and need more information. There are resources, networks and supports for siblings and their families in Illinois, throughout the lifespan.

Support for Young Siblings of People with Disabilities

Sibshops are pedal-to-the-metal events where school-age brothers and sisters meet other sibs (usually for the first time), have fun, laugh, talk about the good and not-so-good parts of having a sib with disabilities, play some great games, learn something about the services their brothers and sister receive, and have some more fun.
